

2009 ACSC Distance Learning Master's Program selectees The following individuals were selected for Air Command and Staff College On-Line Master's Program. The ACSC OLMP provides twenty-two months of Professional Military Education to qualified civilians. The ACSC OLMP is an intermediate developmental program for qualifying officers and civilians. Upon successful completion, students are awarded their Master of Military Operational Art and Science Degree. The program began accepting civilians into their program last summer.

Eligibility: Air Force Civilians in grades GS-12, GS-13, and Pay Band 2. A bachelor's degree is required. Individuals with either a Master's Degree or who have completed Intermediate Developmental Education (IDE) to include ACSC may now apply. However, individuals who have completed both a Master's Degree and IDE may not. Air National Guard (ANG) and Air Reserve Technicians (ART) are not eligible to apply in this data call and must apply through their command.

All civilians should be encouraged to enroll in correspondence PME courses applicable to their grade; and when available, compete for in-residence PME courses. The annual call for nominations is currently open to civilians until May 1, 2009. If interested, type "CDE" into the search field of the AFPC Ask site. The ACSC OLMP and other PME programs ensure the Air Force will sustain a world-class and diverse civilian workforce that achieves mission requirements, is capable of performing leadership roles, and is technically and occupationally competent.

Congratulations to the following individuals:
